

Calabrian Crime Syndicate

The Ruffo di Calabria family is a Calabrian nobility and they are part owners of the Ndrangheta mafia clans which are headquartered in Calabria and they operate internationally. Current members of the Ruffo di Calabria family include Prince Augusto, Prince Alessandro, Prince Fulco and his very wicked ex-wife Princess Melba. The Ruffo di Calabrias oversee the Vangelo a council of high level Calabrian mafia bosses which is similar to the Italian Mafia's Commission. The Ndrangheta clans operate as a defense for the Sicilian Mafia and they are involved in extortion, intimidation, blackmail, murder and various criminal activities like smuggling and business rackets. The Ruffo di Calabrias are the Dukes of Guardia Lombarda which refers to them guarding the Lombardy Goths like the Gottis that settled in Campania and mixed with the Gambinos. Gamb and Camp both mean crooked. The Gottis originated from Lombardy. Authorities claim the Ndrangheta are the most powerful organized crime syndicate in Italy however they are a proxy for the Sicilian Mafia and they serve the Sicilian Mafia which they pay tributes. They are believed to take in 60 billion per year however much of their earnings go to the Sicilian Mafia and their owners. One way the mafias pay their owners their tributes is through the Vatican's charity rackets. The money is then funneled through the Vatican's private Swiss bank accounts and through the Torlonia's Banca del Fucino. The mafias also pay them tributes through cash deliveries which usually get laundered through offshore companies or through jewelers and high end art dealers. The Ruffo di Calabria family like all mafia owners manage police, politicians, and judges and use them to maintain control over the mafias. Mario Oliverio the President of Calabria is an agent of the House of Ruffo di Calabria. Rocco Commisso is an Italian-American billionaire worth 5 billion and was born in Calabria. Commisso is on the board of directors for CSPAN. Rocco Commisso is the founder, chairman, and CEO of Mediacom Communications Corporation and he previously worked for the Royal Bank of Canada and Chase Manhattan Bank. The Ndrangheta have very large operations in Canada. The Commisso family are a Ndrangheta clan in Calabria. Their name refers to Commission. When a mafia does not pay tributes or take orders from their bosses they use the government to go after them. That is how they maintain control. The Ruffo di Calabria family are high level Italian nobles that married with the Lucchesi-Palli family, Belgian royal family, and Austrian Windisch-Graetz family. The head of the Lucchesi-Palli family is Pietro Pio Lucchese Palli and Ruffo and took on the name Ruffo. The Lucchesi-Pallis own the Lucchese crime family and are part owners of the Calabrian Mafias. Prince Pedro of Bourbon-Two Sicilies is the Duke of Calabria and also an owner of the Ndrangheta. Calabria was once part of the Kingdom of Two Sicilies. Prince Augusto's grandfather Prince Fulco Ruffo di Calabria the 6th duke of Guardia Lombarda was a Senator for the Italian Fascists and Mussolini. Prince Augusto's wife is Princess Irma Christiana of Windisch-Graetz. Prince Augusto is the top member of this family and a Knight of the Order of Malta and Knight of the Sacred Military Constantinian Order of Saint George and he serves the Italian Bourbon royals and the Black Nobility.

https://translate.google.com/translate?hl=en&sl=it&u=https://it.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ruffo_di_Calabria&prev=search

The Ruffo di Calabria [1] are one of the oldest and most noble families of Italian nobility, already numbered among the seven largest families of the Kingdom of Naples [2].

A descendant of the family is Paola, sixth queen of the Belgians, daughter of Fulco Ruffo of Calabria and consort of the king Albert II of Belgium.

The great fortune of the family certainly began with the count of Catanzaro Pietro I [17] [18] (m.1257), who was courtier of the emperor Frederick II and appointed by him giustiziere, grand marshal of the kingdom of Sicily and balio [19] of his son Corrado.

Prince Augusto Ruffo di Calabria is a knight of the House of Bourbon-Two Sicilies and a Knight of Malta. Prince Augusto is an owner and manager of the Calabrian Mafia and the Comisso mafia clan. Prince Augusto is the real head of the House of Ruffo di Calabria and he finances and directs child trafficking networks.

<https://translate.google.com/translate?hl=en&sl=it&u=http://www.costantinianocampania.it/s-e-lambasciatore-don-augusto-ruffo-di-calabria-in-visita-a-napoli/&prev=search>

HE Don Augusto Ruffo is Balì Knight of the Grand Cross of Justice decorated with the Constantinian Collar, and was admitted to the Order in 1994; from 1999 he is Delegate for Lombardy and member of the Royal Deputation.

He is also a Knight of Honor and Devotion of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta.

Since 1995 he has been President of the Corviglia Ski Club of St. Moritz, considered the most exclusive club in the world that counts among its members heads of state, religious leaders, personalities from the world of entrepreneurship, art and fashion.

He was born in Turin and is married to SAS the Princess Irma Cristiana de Windisch-Graetz.

Prince Fulco Ruffo di Calabria with the wicked witch Marisela Federici. The Federici family were nobles loyal to the Viscontis. Prince Fulco is the official head of the House of Ruffo di Calabria and an owner of the Ndrangheta and a financier and commander of child trafficking networks.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fulco_Ruffo_di_Calabria

Fulco VIII, Prince Ruffo di Calabria, 6th Duke of Guardia Lombarda (Naples 12 August 1884 – Ronchi di Apuana 23 August 1946) was an Italian World War I flying ace, senator under the fascist regime of Benito Mussolini in World War II for which he was convicted. He was also posthumous father-in-law of King Albert II of the Belgians, and grandfather of King Philippe of Belgium.

Prince Alessandro with his brother Prince Fulco.

Rocco Commisso is an Calabrian born billionaire in the United States and the head boss of the Commisso clan of the Calabrian Mafia.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rocco_B._Commisso

Rocco B. Commisso (Italian pronunciation: ['rɔkko kom'misso];^[2] born 25 November 1949) is an Italian American billionaire businessman, and the founder, chairman and chief executive officer (CEO) of Mediacom, the fifth largest cable television company in the US. As of 2011, the company is privately owned by Commisso. He previously worked for companies including Cablevision, the Royal Bank of Canada, and Chase Manhattan Bank. Since 2017, Commisso has been the owner and chairman of the New York Cosmos, and since June 2019, the owner of the Italian football club Fiorentina.

Born in Calabria, Italy, Commisso migrated to the United States at age 12.[3]

He later worked at Royal Bank of Canada, where he led the bank's U.S. lending activities to the media and communications sectors.

Commisso serves on the board of directors of the National Cable & Telecommunications Association,[13] C-SPAN[14] and Cable Television Laboratories, Inc.[15] He is also a member of the Cable TV Pioneers.[16]

Net worth US$ 5 billion (July 2019)[1]

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Commisso_%27ndrina

The Commisso 'ndrina (Italian: [kom'misso, 'kɔmmisso]) is a powerful clan of the 'Ndrangheta, a criminal and mafia-type organization in Calabria, Italy. The 'ndrina is based in Siderno, but has an important branch of the Siderno Group in the Greater Toronto Area in Canada.

In the 1980s, the Commisso were challenged by the Costa 'ndrina over the command of Siderno.[1] The Costas had returned from Toronto. By 1991, the feud – that spilled over to Toronto as well – ended in a victory for the Commisso clan. Officially, there were 28 dead among the Costas and eight among the Commissos. Cosimo Commisso was sentenced over the vendetta and his cousin Antonio Commisso succeeded him as the acting boss of the clan.[1]

The Commissos are one of the 'Ndrangheta's biggest and most important clans, involved in the global cocaine business and money laundering. [3] They were members of La Provincia, a provincial commission of the 'Ndrangheta formed at the end of the Second 'Ndrangheta war in September 1991, to avoid further internal conflicts.[4]

<https://translate.google.com/translate?hl=en&sl=it&u=https://it.wikipedia.org/wiki/%2527ndrangheta&prev=search>

The 'ndrangheta [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] (pronunciation: [n'drangeta] [6] probably adaptation of the dialectal 'ndrànghita [7], also known as Picciotteria and a time as Montalbano Family [8]) is an Italian criminal organization of mafia connotation originating from Calabria, explicitly inserted since March 30, 2010 in article 416-bis of the penal code [9] and recognized as a unitary criminal organization and with a collegial summit in the Criminal court process of cassation on 18 June 2016 [10]. It is the only mafia present in all 5 continents of the world and according to a survey by Demoskopika in 2014, in 2013 active in 30 countries with 400 gangs and 60 000 affiliates of which 40 000 in Calabria [11], only in Calabria there they would be 166 cosche with at least 4 000 affiliates (Court of Appeal of Catanzaro in 2019) [12].

the 'ndrangheta is considered among the most dangerous criminal organizations in the world with a turnover of around 53 billion euros [8] [15] [16] [17] [18]